The Klutz Yo-yo Book

One woman's quest for Mr. Right, the Great American novel, and the perfect knit stitch When literary agent Kendra Porter loses her heart, she has a tendency to lose her head. She's impulsively accepted three bended-knee marriage proposals. But this flighty fiancée has never made it to the altar. Her MO is to return the rings with heart-rending breakup speeches. No more! For long-term relationship success, she adopts a more pragmatic approach to dating in hopes of clicking with a different type of guy. Rival literary agent Dominic Tobias is a sexy, charming, hipster sort, in other words, Kendra's usual type to a tee. While he induces the best kind of tingles, he also triggers her flight response. The last few women Dominic pursued banished him to that guy purgatory of no return - the Friend Zone. His laid-back, no-pressure courting style has been lousy for his love life as of late. With Kendra, he tries the opposite - a full-court-press strategy. Kendra is drawn to Dominic, but she can't fight the unnerving deja vu when he gets too close. Will they prevail over the "cute couple" curse, spooky synchronicity, suspicions of client poaching, and double-wide competitive streaks to achieve their happily ever after? Can Kendra conquer her fear and trust off-the-charts chemistry one more time? Does Dominic want to win Kendra's heart? Or does he just want to win?

How can you consistently pull off hands-on tinkering with kids? How do you deal with questions that you can't answer? How do you know if tinkering kids are learning anything or not? Is there a line between fooling around with real stuff and learning? The idea of learning through tinkering is not so radical. From the dawn of time, whenever humanity has wanted to know more, we have achieved it most effectively by getting our hands dirty and making careful observations of real stuff. Make: Tinkering (Kids Learn by Making Stuff) lets you discover how, why--and even what it is--to tinker and tinker well. Author Curt Gabrielson draws on more than 20 years of experience doing hands-on science to facilitate tinkering: learning science while fooling around with real things. This book shows you how to make: A drum set from plastic bottles, tape, and shrink-wrap Magnetic toys that dance, sway, and amaze Catapults, ball launchers, and table-top basketball A battery-powered magic wand and a steadiness game (don't touch the sides!) Chemical reactions with household items Models of bones and tendons that work like real arms and ankles Spin art machine and a hovercraft from a paper plate! Lifelong learners hungry for their next genuine experience

The Incredible Clay Book

Stroll through time and space; witness spirituality, creation, and the love of family; experience joy, sorrow, laughter, faith, and hope; question, reason, and perhaps agree with theories on cloning humans, UFOs, alien contact, and abduction experiences. In these pages, Dr. Michael Wolf addresses the topics of art, science, and religion, and encourages an understanding of the connection between time and space, the continuing creation of the universe, the impact of environmental hazards on this biosphere, and his classified work for the U.S. government. For those with open minds and hearts, this intricately woven tapestry, "The Catchers of Heaven," can be life-changing. Wolf takes us to the edge of a new realization, where we glimpse what may be happening throughout the far reaches of the universe. Dr. Wolf, Chancellor Emeritus of The New England Institute for Advanced Research, is a patron and member of The New York Academy of Sciences and The American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Capsters

No longer a throwaway item - Klutz bottle caps are the perfect canvas for an innovative work of art. Kids can use the charms and press-out add ons to embellish bottle caps. Once they've gone crazy with the glitter and googly eyes, the proprietary glaze creates a shiny durable finish, and when they're finished they'll have unique backpack dangles, fridge magnets, belt loop hangers, and loads more.

Friday Night Lights

I've got 99 problems but money ain't one. Though a sister with cotton candy for brains, a spatula-wielding six-year-old niece with a British accent, and the mysterious businessman who left me that damn ticket are all currently vying for the top spot. When I became the sole winner of a $270 million Megaball jackpot, thanks to a sexy stranger who left a lottery ticket instead of paying for his meal, my entire world flipped upside-down. Now, with money-sucking vultures, douchebags by the dozens, and a horde of total hotties just waiting to get their mangy paws on my newfound fortune, I set out to locate the man who gifted me the winning ticket--to properly thank him. However, when I finally find the cocky, self-absorbed business tycoon, Teague Goodman, I'm not sure whether I want to slap him or ring his MEGABALLS.

Heroes of Olympus: The Son of Neptune

Percy is confused. When he awoke after his long sleep, he didn't know much more than his name. His brain-fuzz is lingering, even after the wolf Lupa told him he is a demigod and trained him to fight. Somehow Percy managed to make it to the camp for half-bloods, despite the fact that he had to continually kill monsters that, annoyingly, would not stay dead. But the camp doesn't ring any bells with him. Hazel is supposed to be dead. When she lived before, she didn't do a very good job of it. When the Voice took over her mother and commanded Hazel to use her "gift" for an evil purpose, Hazel couldn't say no. Now, because of her mistake, the future of the world is at risk.

The Klutz Book of Knots

In a stunning work of insight and hope, New York Times bestselling author Wally Lamb once again reveals his unmatched talent for finding humanity in the lost and lonely and celebrates the transforming power of the written word. For several years, Lamb has taught writing to a group of women prisoners at York Correctional Institution in Connecticut. In this unforgettable collection, the women of York describe in their own words how they were imprisoned by abuse, rejection, and their own self-destructive impulses long before they entered the criminal justice system. Yet these are powerful stories of hope and healing, told by writers who have left victimhood behind. In his moving introduction, Lamb describes the incredible journey of expression and self-awareness the women took through their writing and shares how they challenged him as a teacher and as a fellow author. Couldn't Keep It to Myself is a true testament to the process of finding oneself and working toward a better day.

Make Glitter Clay Charms

This book will tell all you need to know about British English spelling. It's a reference work intended for anyone interested in the English language, especially those who teach it, whatever the age or mother tongue of their students. It will be particularly useful to those wishing to produce well-designed materials for teaching initial literacy via phonics, for teaching English as a foreign or second language, and for teacher training. English spelling is notoriously complicated and difficult to learn; it is correctly described as much less regular and predictable than any other alphabetic orthography. However, there is more regularity in the English spelling system than is generally appreciated. This book provides, for the first time, a thorough account of the whole complex system. It does so by describing how phonemes relate to graphemes and vice versa. It enables searches for particular words, so that one can easily find, not the meanings or pronunciations of words, but the other words with which those with unusual phoneme-grapheme/grapheme-phoneme correspondences keep company. Other unique features of this book include teacher-friendly lists of correspondences and various regularities not described by previous authorities, for example the strong tendency for the letter-name vowel phonemes (the names of the letters) to be spelt with those single letters in non-final syllables.
